Project Scope

Cardno Grogan Richards now has full surveying and subdivision capabilities with the introduction of a Land Surveying Group to its fold. With experienced licensed surveyors and surveying graduates, the group is capable of providing innovative solutions to the development of our environment.

The surveying group brings a generation's experience in land and building subdivision, legal dealings in relation to land and buildings (adverse possession, easement creations and removals, dealing with restrictions, title amendment, building area surveys), and major infrastructure projects such as the MCG reconstruction and the Geelong ringroad.

The Land Surveying Group offers this service as a stand alone service or as part of an holistic approach. In conjunction with the civil, traffic, structural and water groups, Cardno Grogan Richards can provide comprehensive advice and service to its clients.

Business Unit Manager

The Land Surveying Group is headed by Peter Sullivan, a licensed surveyor with approximately 30 years experience in the profession.

Peter is a leader in the profession, standing on many industry committees, is a past president of the Institution of Surveyors, Victoria, and who's work has seen him as a director of surveying firms in Melbourne for the past 17 years.
